New directions

to move your teaching forward

You know that all children learn in their own way: visually, through words, touch, sound or movement. Now you can use this knowledge as a guiding principle in charting greater success for every individual pupil – with the Senteo™ interactive handset.

Senteo comes with SMART Notebook™ collaborative learning software, helping you make lessons more engaging for everyone by combining questions with 6,000 learning objects. It offers unparalleled insight and control using a SMART Board™ interactive whiteboard for individual pupil assessment on the spot. These are currently adopted by almost 60% of UK state primary and secondary schools.

- Easily animate questions with maps, images or videos
- Write and edit notes in digital ink
- Import or export Microsoft® PowerPoint® presentations
- Incorporate rich multimedia content

Chart their progress every step of the way

Create a roadmap for every lesson. As an assessment tool, Senteo is second to none. Class members can be tested individually before, during or at the end of lessons so you can gauge progress and react in real time. Senteo can help reshape lessons in a way that will help each pupil get to grips with trickier concepts.

Develop personalised learning paths. You can base study guides and learning plans on individual responses and print questions and test results with your comments attached as handouts for pupils to complete or digest at their own pace. Over time, you will be able to build a clear view of each pupil's progress.

Make sure no one's left behind. Senteo's raised hand function allows individuals to ask for help in confidence – at the press of a button. You can then send them a tick or cross on their handset to let them know immediately how well they have understood the concept.

Explore different routes. Answers to more complex questions can tell you a lot about each pupil's level of understanding. With Senteo you can pose questions in a multiple choice or simple true and false format or include numeric responses and questions with more than one right answer.

Take unexpected turns. Senteo lets you edit and manipulate questions on the spot so they stay relevant if a discussion takes an unplanned course.

See where you've been – and where you're going. Senteo will transfer response breakdowns on single questions or an entire lesson into easy to understand graphs and charts, to help you with lesson planning.

Build confidence and create a powerfully inclusive learning environment when you place these centrally-linked remote control units in every pupil's hand.
